Jointers by Dan Coleman

February's speaker is Guild Member, Dan Coleman. Dan is a former woodshop teacher and has extensive experience with the repair and setup of vintage woodworking and metalworking machinery. He has previously presented a program on woodworking machine maintenance and troubleshooting. This month Dan will delve into the mysterious world of the jointer. From choosing a machine to getting it up and running – all will be revealed, live and in person, in this not-to-be-missed evening!

Our Last Meeting was cancelled due to inclement weather

Woodworking Show

This past weekend February 11-14 was the annual woodworking show in Collinsville. We had a great booth location inside the main area with lots of traffic and were well represented with at least three members working the booth at a time and often with many more that stopped by during their tour of the show. We attempted again to cut out toys while we talked to show-goers, but often got overrun by attendees wanting to talk (sorry John Patton for not getting many toys produced). Having the scroll saw going on one end and Jerry Lammers magnet toy swaying on the other end seemed to get their attention.

Guild member Cecil Robertson finished second in the shows "Show Off" contest with his windsor loveseat, winning himself a free Bosch tool. Thanks to everyone that helped out. I am sure we will see some fresh faces at this month's meeting.

Keith Lissant cuts out toys for the toy program.

Workday at Faust Park

The guild is having a work day at the new shop at Faust Park on Saturday, February 26. Keith Lissant plans to arrive at about 9:30 a.m. to fire up the woodstove. You should plan on arriving at about 10:00 a.m. We will be moving in new tool donations, working on the shop, and making lanterns for the park. Bring some of your own hand tools as backup, since the shop is not yet fully outfitted. The shop will be open until 4 p.m. E-mail Keith at lissants.dragonhold@juno.com if you have any questions and to let him know you plan to attend.

January 2011 Toy Report

We had a limited supply of toys to deliver this month (140 items), so we'll need lots of things for February. We really could use rabbit kits, Shamrock medallions, and cars. The kids also seem to really like the butterflies with the clothespin body. With spring on the way, bird houses and animal kits are also great items. If you need patterns, most of them can be found on the website. Alternately, you can call John Patton (314-843-0616) or Steve Briner (636-922-1947) and they will send you the pattern by mail. If possible, make at least 20 of each craft pattern you select.

Remember, a minimum of 15% of the auction price goes to the guild and is a great way to support our efforts.
